Shakespeare in the Garden: The Comedy of Errors

by William Shakespeare

Fun, family-friendly Shakespeare returns to the picturesque gardens of St Peter's.

A marvellously silly show of misdirections, missed connections and mixed up sons.

The Company is assembled and ready to start, but where is the set and the rest of the cast? Join C Theatre in the 17th century as they tackle twists, turns and twins with rather fewer actors than they should have. Cue hilarious doubling, improvised props and bags of gusto, after all, the show must go on!

Bring a picnic and relax on the lawn whilst our professional cast masterfully serve Shakespeare's lyrical laments and vivid verses in this high-octane farce. This year's production will be accessible to all ages and backgrounds and requires no prior Shakespeare knowledge.

Kate Stephenson will be in the director's chair for this production. A veteran of the Edinburgh Fringe, this will be her tenth year at the festival, where she has directed shows including A Gallant Life, Alice in Wonderland, For the School Colours: The Life and Works of Angela Brazil and The Owl and the Pussycat. She has a fondness for outdoor Shakespeare, even in torrential rain, and has previously directed touring productions of A Midsummer Nights' Dream, Love's Labour's Lost and The Tempest.

Acclaim for previous productions of Shakespeare in the Garden:

'Capturing the emotional heart' ★★★★★ List

'A joy to watch' ★★★★★ ThreeWeeks

'This is an intimate, slick production and a very nice portrayal of some of the Bard's best work' BroadwayBaby.com

'Must see show' Fringe Review
